

THE BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

$1.50 a Year; 50c for 4 Months; 75c for 6 Months.

ALL THE NEWS THAT'S FIT TO PRINT.

$1.50 a Year; 50c for 4 Months; 75c for 6 Months.

VOL. XLIV

CLOVERPORT, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1920

8 Pages

No. 34

CINTL. ENGINEER TO MEET WITH CITY COUNCIL MAR. 1

Open Meeting For Citizens and Councilmen to Hear Waterworks Plans Discussed.

Mr. John T. Gillig, of the Engineering firm J. T. Gillig & Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, has notified the City Council that he will meet the council and citizens of Cloverport at their regular meeting night, which will be Monday night, March 1st. Mr. Gillig is an expert on water-works and drainage system. He will go over the city and map out plans to build a modern water-works plant, and at prices within reason to get it if the citizens want it.

Large quantities of water mains and smaller piping have been located in the government supplies that were made to be sent over seas, but the abrupt termination of the war left these on the hands of the government and can be bought for half of what they sold for last year.

Citizens who are interested in water-works and fire protection are urged to attend the council meeting and help the cause along. Cloverport needs fire protection and to get it, let the slogan be: "We can, and we will build them."

ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE IS HEAVY EXPENSE

Costs State Something Like
$2,000 Per Day. Not a Single Measure Has Passed Both Houses.

The Kentucky Legislature reflected no credit upon itself when it adjourned on Wednesday, Feb. 11th to reconvene on the following Monday. It is costing the state something like $2,000.00 per day, yet after more than half of its allotted time has gone, but not a single measure has passed both Houses.

It is strange that representative men such as members of this body should be, can consent to waste the time of the people who have sent them here with confidence that they would fulfill their obligations. On motions to adjourn a roll call has been demanded several times but the de-

(Continued on Page 7)

RAILWAY STRIKE WOULD HAVE EFFECTED 12 EMPLOYEES OF SHOPS.

W. W. Weedman Receives Message
To Call Off Strike.

About twelve men who are employed at the L. H. & St. L. R. R. shops here and who are members of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shops laborers, would have been effected by the strike called for Tuesday night by Allen E. Barker, International President of the union. Mr. W. W. Weedman, the local chairman of the shop laborers union was notified Monday that the strike had been postponed indefinitely.

Demands for increased pay was the basis for calling the strike among the members of this union, and their demands will receive further consideration at a general conference of railway union committeemen on Feb. 23.

PNEUMONIA FA- TAL TO YOUNG BOY

Seventeen Year Old Son of Mr.
and Mrs. C. E. Harlow Dies in Louisville.

Glen Dean, Ky. Feb. 16. (Special)—Shell Harlow, of Glen Dean, died Tuesday, Feb. 10, in Louisville after a short illness of pneumonia. His remains were accompanied home on Wednesday evening by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harlow, his aunt, Mrs. Ella Logsdon, and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Eades.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon at the Baptist church. Rev. Nicely, of Irvington consoled the bereaved ones with his comforting talk. Mr. Harlow's former comrades acted as pall-bearers and bore his remains to the last resting place in the Glen Dean cemetery. The beautiful floral offerings covered the grave entirely.

Young Harlow was born July 5, 1902 and was the only child. He had a host of friends among the old and young and he will be greatly missed.

TOBINSORT BAPTIST CHURCH HAS NEW PASTOR.

Rev. J. Aubrey Sandefur is the new pastor of the Gilead Baptist church in Tobinsort, and of the Cannetton Baptist church. He has held pastorates in Booneville and Petersburg, Ind., and was educated in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville.

Rev. Sandefur has had much experience among young people. He and Mrs. Sandefur will reside in Cannetton.

(Continued on Page 7)

Notes and Bills - - - - - $631,532.45
U. S. Bonds and other Securities - - - - - 62,456.49
Real Estate - - - - - 1,315.71
Banking House and Lot - - - - - 1.00
Cash and Due from Banks - - - - - 104,269.31
Other assets (revenue stamps) - - - - - 127.58

Total - - - - - $799,702.54

ASSETS

Notes and Bills - - - - - $631,532.45
U. S. Bonds and other Securities - - - - - 62,456.49
Real Estate - - - - - 1,315.71
Banking House and Lot - - - - - 1.00
Cash and Due from Banks - - - - - 104,269.31
Other assets (revenue stamps) - - - - - 127.58

Total - - - - - $799,702.54

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock - - - - - $ 50,000.00
Surplus - - - - - 50,000.00
Undivided profits (less expenses, taxes and interest paid) - - - - - 11,514.34
Unpaid Dividend - - - - - 157.50
DEPOSITS - - - - - 688,030.70

Total - - - - - $799,702.54

M. D. BEARD, President; C. V. ROBERTSON, Vice President; D. D. DOWELL,
Cashier; B. F. BEARD, Assistant Cashier; GEO. E. BESS, Mgr. Trust Department

"The Bank That Makes You Feel At Home"

POPULAR YOUNG MAN'S SUDDEN END

Jess Gardner of Irvington
Stricken While Visiting Sister in Evansville.

Irvington, Ky., Feb. 16. (Special)—Jess Gardner died Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Mackin, Evansville, having gone there last Sunday for a visit.

He was stricken down Wednesday evening and never regained consciousness. The remains were brought to Irvington to the home of his brother, Newsom Gardner, on Friday evening.

Mr. Gardner was born in Stephensport, March 27th, 1883. He had made his home here for the past eight years and had numerous friends who held him in high esteem and will greatly miss him.

A home funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. F. Hartford conducted the service, which was a beautiful and impressive one. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, the business men gave a very handsome design. Appropriate music selections were rendered. Active pall-bearers were: J. B. Hottell, L. E. Henderson, Wilbur Parks, Harry Conniff, Don Lyddan and Jack Board. The body was laid to rest in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Relatives from a distance who attended were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gardner, Stephensport; Mrs. Sandy Hendry and daughter, West Point, Miss. John Mackin and daughter, Miss Zola Lee Mackin, Evansville, John Gardner, Memphis, could not attend on account of sickness. We extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones.

MR. CHARLES COX MARRIES CANNELTON WOMAN.

Mr. Charles Cox, of Tobinsport, and Mrs. Emma Fizzell, of Cannetton, were married at the bride's home on Tuesday evening, Feb. 10, at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Whitteed. Mr. and Mrs. Cox will reside on a farm owned by the groom in Tobinsport.

FATHER AND SON DIE FROM INFLUENZA.

Ross Burton, who lived near Askins, died in Louisville, last week while visiting her son, Raymond Burton, who was ill with the "flu" and died a little while before his father. The father and son were buried Sunday in the Hopewell church cemetery at Louisville.

Mr. Burton is survived by his widow and nine children.

INFLUENZA EPID- EMIC ON THE WANE

Number of Cases Less Than Last Week. Schools Continued Closed.

The epidemic of influenza is apparently on the wane in Cloverport and has about run its course. At any rate, there are comparatively few new cases this week with those of last week, and many who have had it are well on the road to recovery. There has never been any exact number of cases reported by the local physicians.

Both the Cloverport Public school and the St. Rose Parochial school are closed for the second week.

***

The Convalescents

Mrs. E. B. Oglesby, whose life almost despaired of from an illness of pneumonia, is greatly improved and hopes are entertained for her complete recovery.

Mrs. Chas. Hambleton, of the East End, had an attack of pleurisy last week. She is convalescent.

The family of Joseph Ballman, who live near here, have all been stricken with the influenza and they are rapidly improving.

Thos. Carter, proprietor of Carter's restaurant, had a relapse from the influenza and was very ill, but his friends will be glad to know that he is out of danger.

Mr. Austin Beavin, of Beavin and Wheatley's Store has been confined to his home on Railroad street for two weeks on account of having the "flu". His mother, Mrs. Mattie Beavin also had the "flu" and both have recovered.

Among others who have been confined at home on account of illness are Harry Crist, Mrs. Hillary Hardin, Mrs. R. T. Polk, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pumphrey and Mr. Forrest Pate.

WELL KNOWN RIVER PILOT PASSES AWAY.

Mr. James Polk Hawley, commonly known as "Captain" Hawley because for years he has done work off and on as pilot on the Hawesville and Cannetton ferry, passed away last Sunday night at his home in Hawesville.

He had been ill about a week of "flu". He was well known by persons in both towns as well as by the traveling public. His wife is a sister of Mrs. James England, of Tobinsport. Cannetton Telephone.

MRS. H. L. FRANCE ENTER- TAINS FOR HER VISITOR.

Mrs. H. L. France (colored) entertained with an elaborate four course dinner on Friday, Feb. 13 in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Nannie Robards, of Evansville, who is also her guest. The invited dinner guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Eli Singleton, Mr. and Mrs. James Dehaven, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Allen Webb, Misses Hattie Moorman, Carrie Crittenden and Lucy Walker.

BUYS STORE IN IRVINGTON.

H. J. Krebs, Irvington, has bought the store house where he lives and does business for $2,000. Mr. Krebs has been renting this property for ten years at a rental of $240 per year. Said he was tired of paying rent. Mr. Krebs came to Irvington with just money enough to pay his fare and buy a small stock of groceries. He and his good wife, by hard work and saving own their business and their home and are happy. Mr. Krebs was 63 years young Monday, Feb. 16. Mrs. Krebs is well, she wouldn't say how old.

IN CHICAGO

R. N. Warren general manager of B. F. Beard & Co., is in Chicago this week with Miss Lee Bishop buying Spring articles for the Millinery department.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Summers, of Henderson, Ky., are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a fine son, Earl Summers, Jr., Sunday, Feb. 15, weighing 8½ pounds.

Mrs. Summers, who was Miss Grace Pauley, lived in this city before her marriage and has many friends here.

RETURNS 106 INDICTMENTS.

The Grand Jury adjourned last Saturday returning 106 indictments mostly for gaming.

GEO. WASHINGTON'S SOUP LADLE BRINGS $1,000.

When George Washington was elected president of the United States in 1789 a silver service was given to him by residents of New York City. One piece was a massive silver punch ladle. This passed into the possession of his nephew, Col. William A. Washington and on down the ancestral line. The ladle was sold at public auction in New York, last week and brought $1,000. One of Washington's gold rings was sold for $650 and his miniature painted on marble for $300.

MEETING IN HARDINSBURG TO GET RECRUITS FOR RIFLE CO. IN COUNTY.

A meeting will be held at Hardinsburg next Saturday afternoon at the Court House for the purpose of securing the necessary number of recruits for the Rifle Company which is to be organized in Breckinridge county.

This is a splendid opportunity for boys and young business men to secure military training without being away from their regular duties.

The fifteen day encampment during the summer will be a splendid vacation for the members of the company and will carry full pay of the regular army and all expenses.

The rifle company showing the best marksmanship will be permitted to enter the national encampment for competition for national honors in marksmanship.

GOVT SUPPLIES TO BE SOLD HERE

Golden Rule Store Will Carry
Gov't Supplies and Help Reduce H. C. L.

The Golden Rule Store in this city will aid in combating the H. C. L. in the selling of government supplies at government prices in connection with selling its regular line of merchandise.

This announcement was made public Monday morning by the store's efficient manager, Miss Nannie J. Cohen. The supplies are expected here in ten days or more and will consist mostly of men's clothing and a few household articles. Later on groceries will be sold too. One section of the Golden Rule store will be reserved specifically for the government goods.

Cloverport is probably the only town in the State of its size to have the advantage of a government store in its midst, and it will afford a great opportunity to the community at large to buy these articles at greatly reduced prices.

OMAR K. BOYD GRADUATED WITH THIRD HONOR.

Among the twenty-eight mid-year graduates from the Louisville Boys High School, was Omar K. Boyd, who was the third honor student and made a salutary address. Boyd, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boyd, lived here for several years and has many friends who will be interested in knowing of his successful graduation.

VISITING IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Mrs. Herbert M. Beard, of Hardinsburg, left Saturday morning for Washington, D. C., and from there she will go to Herndon, Va., where she and Mrs. Sallie M. Beard will visit Mrs. Jennie Aud. Mrs. Beard was joined by Mrs. Sallie Beard at Huntington, W. Va., the latter having gone there to spend a few days with Miss Margaret Peyton, formerly of Hardinsburg.

FINDS C'PORT BRANCH HOUSE OF KY. CREAMERIES O. K.

Mr. Crumbaugh, an inspector for the Kentucky Creameries branch houses, was in Cloverport last week checking up the branch house here. Mr. Crumbaugh found everything satisfactory under the management of Mr. J. R. Sanders, and commended him for his qualified services.

PROGRAM FOR ME- MORIAL SERVICE

Held Sunday Feb. 22nd, When Memorial Diplomas Will Be Presented Nearest Kin.

Hardinsburg, Feb. 16. (Special)—Final arrangements have been made for the occasion of the distribution of testimonials presented by the French government through the American Legion to the nearest of kin of Breckinridge county soldiers who gave their lives in the World War. The testimonials will be presented at a memorial service held at the opera house in this city, Sunday afternoon, 2 o'clock, Feb. 22nd.

Following is the program arranged for this service:

Marseillaise
Opening Remarks by Post Commander.

Reading of Scripture—Rev. Wroe
Prayer—Rev. Huntsman

Quartette, "Cover Them Over"—
Messrs. Lex, Bowld, Loy and Ditto

Reading "France in Battle Flame"—
Mrs. E. B. English

Address—Dr. Williams

Solo, "Sleep on Ye Honored Dead"—
Mrs. Russel Compton

Pageant scenes "Columbia Welcomes LaFrance", "LaFrance Gives
Testimonials To Columbia."

Reading of Honor Roll
Star Spangled Banner

Benediction—Rev. Father J. F. Knue.

BUYS 30,000 LBS. PRYOR IN McQUADY NEIGHBORHOOD.

Mr. Charley Hawkins, representing J. D. Baldridge, tobacconist, of Cloverport, spent several days of last week in McQuady, buying tobacco. Mr. Hawkins bought 30,000 lbs. of Pryor and one sucker for prices ranging from $6 to $16, $7 to $18. He said is was a fine grade of tobacco.

TWO SENTENCED TO

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY

HARDINSBURG

Mrs. J. W. Trent and children, of Greendale, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Walls.

C. E. Haswell, of Louisville, was here Wednesday.

Mrs. S. A. Pate, of Edenwood, has returned after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Beard.

J. E. Lewis left Wednesday for Akron, O., where he has accepted a position.

Mrs. Sarah Snyder, of Woodrow, who has been the guest of relatives has returned.

P. M. Beard has returned from a business trip to Lexington.

Atty. P. P. Haswell, of Louisville, attended Court here last week.

Mrs. James Waggoner, of Garfield, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Julia Payne.

Wm. Cannon has returned after a month's stay in Kansas City, Kans.

Mr. P. Sheean, of Flaherty, has returned after a visit with his brother, Dennis Sheean, and Mrs. Sheean.

Mr. and Mrs. E. LeGrand, of Garfield, who has been the guests of Mrs. LeGrand's sister, Mrs. D. D. Dowell, and Mr. Dowell, have returned.

D. D. Davis has returned from Detroit, Mich.

Misses Jessie and Mabel Hamilton, of Owensboro, are the guests of Miss Frances Grause.

We Are Glad To Have You Bring Us Your Produce.

We are ready to do business with you 365 days in the year less Sundays and holidays. And we are always glad to pay you top-notch prices for your produce, ready to give you cash or brass, just as you wish.

PRODUCE PRICES THIS WEEK

(Subject to change)
Cream	- - - - - 57c
Fryers	- - - - - 22c
Hens	- - - - - 25c
Geese	- - - - - 14c
Guineas	- - - - - 25c
Ducks	- - - - - 22c
Old Roosters	- - 14c
Large Chickens	- - 25c
Turkeys	- - - - - 32c

Bring us your Cream too. We will test it for butter fat and pay highest market price. Have you a Primrose Separator?

B. F. BEARD & CO.
Hardinsburg, Ky.

DIRECTORY

Of Cattle and Hog Breeders
Chicken Raisers, Live Stock and Tobacco Dealers of Breckinridge County

Planters Hall Stock Farm

Glen Dean, Ky.

Polled Durham Cattle. Poland China Hogs. Short Horn Cattle. Hampshire Sheep.

Have won 1000 Ribbons at State Fairs in Past Five Years

Valley Home Stock Farm

W. J. OWEN & SONS, Proprietors
Hardinsburg, Ky., Route 1

Poland China Hogs a Specialty
Polled Durham Cattle

THE HOWARD FARMS

J. M. HOWARD & SON, Prop.

Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn, Roan Sultan, son of White-hall Sultan, heads the herd. Duroc Hogs, Sprague Defender leads the herd.

Breeders of 2nd prize Polled Shorthorn Heifer (Senior yearling class) International Chicago, 1919.

Glen Dean, -:- -:- Ky.

BEARD BROS.

Hardinsburg, Ky.

Dealers in LIVE STOCK AND TOBACCO

C. V. Robertson

Hardinsburg, Ky.

Dealer in High-Class Horses, Mules, Fine Saddles and Harness Horses.

It will pay you to visit my Stables

PARK PLACE

G. N. Lyddan

FARMER AND FEEDER
Irvington, Ky.

WEBSTER STOCK FARM

H. H. NORTON, Owner

Farmer, Feeder and Dealer in All Kinds of Live Stock.

Webster, -:- -:- Kentucky

Paul Compton, of Louisville, has returned after a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Compton.

Miss Emma Lou Moorman, of Glen Dean, was here Friday the guest of relatives.

Mrs. J. E. Kincheloe, who has been the guest of relatives in Cloverport, has returned.

Mr. Andrew Driskell, who closed his school at McQuady, Wednesday has returned.

Mrs. Margaret Murray and daughter, Miss Margaret Rodman, left Saturday for Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and family have moved to Louisville.

Rev. J. F. Knue, of McQuady, was here Saturday.

Miss Eleanor Robertson was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John Owen, of Glen Dean, the week-end.

James Wright and sister, Miss May Wright, of McQuady, entered High School here, Monday.

BIG SPRING

I wish to correct a mistake I made last week. It was 15 gallons of cream instead of 15 pounds that Mrs. Jim Norris saved in three weeks.

J. L. Norris spent several days last week at Hardinsburg, having been summoned there for the petit jury.

Ed and Schuyler Martin went to Brandenburg, last Wednesday.

Miss Williams offered a prize to the one who attended school every day, during the session. Miss Ruby Norris received it. She lives about a mile from town.

Mrs. Joe Bewley has been very ill but is slowly improving.

B. S. Clarkson was home Sunday.

Mr. Ed Martin and Miss Hallie Williams, Stiths Valley, were married, Saturday afternoon at Vine Grove by Rev. Baker.

The pupils of Miss Williams rendered their parts nicely at the entertainment given Friday afternoon.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Meador, Wednesday evening.

BEWLEYVILLE

Mrs. Mary Beauchamp, who has spent the winter with her sisters, Mrs. Ella Compton and Miss Tena Jordan, returned Friday to her home at Mystic.

Rep. R. J. Cain and Don Cain came home Thursday from Frankfort, for a few days stay.

Miss Dorothy Cain has returned home after a few days stay in Frankfort, with her father, Rep. R. J. Cain. Mrs. W. W. Keith has been on the sick list.

Dr. A. M. Hardaway, of Minot, N. D., came Monday to attend the funeral of his father, Mr. T. P. Hardaway. He returned home that afternoon.

Mrs. D. C. Moorman, of Glen Dean, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hardaway and children, W. G., Jr., and Dolph Bunker, of West Point, Mrs. T. P. Peyton, of Hardinsburg and Ernest Hardaway, of Louisville attended the funeral of their father, Mr. Hardaway. Mr. Hardaway was a life long resident of this community and will be greatly missed in the church and in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Stith arrived here Friday from Pasadena, Cal. They will remain here for a few weeks visit then go to their new home near Crawfordsville, Ind.

Miss Laura Mell Stith spent Friday night with Mrs. C. D. Hardaway.

Little Garland Gross has been sick but glad to report him better.

HARNED

Mrs. B. E. Gray went to Covell, Ill., Tuesday to be with her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Purcell and family, who have influenza.

Mrs. Frank Compton and children, of Cloverport, visited friends here last week.

Mr. David Penick left Wednesday for Bowling, where he and his family will spend the winter.

Rev. Roe filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowmer Smith and Marion Smith, of Lodiburg, were guests of relatives here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weatherford were in Louisville, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jolly, of McQuady, visited Mr. and Mrs. Milt Tate Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherdie Basham and little daughter, Mildred, left Wednesday for Kappa, Ill., where they will reside. They are zealous workers in God's service and will be greatly missed here.

The following deals in real estate were made here Wednesday: Clint Davis traded a small farm near here to Joe Smith for his property here in town. Albert Tucker purchased a house and lot from Rev. W. R. Oldham. Rev. Oldham then purchased the Smith property from Clint Davis.

The property and house-hold goods of Willis Payne, deceased was sold here Wednesday. The property was purchased by Wilson Davis.

Roy McCoy, who has had influenza is improving.

C. M. Payne went to Hardinsburg, Thursday and Friday to teach in the place of Prof. Shultz, who was ill.

Arba Tucker, of Mook, visited relatives here Thursday night.

WEBSTER

Mr. W. E. Compton, traveling salesman, was the week-end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Compton.

Mrs. Bob Mattingly, of Owensboro, spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. B. F. Payne, who has been ill but is better.

Miss Mattie Lee Rhodes was the Saturday and Sunday guest of Miss Ossie Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rhodes were in Louisville, several days last week on business.

Miss Ossie Payne was in Irvington, Monday, shopping.

Mr. Ress, of Adler Mfg. Co., was in this town, Friday.

Mrs. Ernest Poll is in Hardinsburg, this week visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. S. M. Haynes, Tie inspector, for the L. H. & St. L. R. R., was in town this week inspecting ties.

Mr. Owen Parks sold to Beard Bros., one team of mules consideration $885.

Mr. J. M. Rhodes was in Hardinsburg, Thursday on business.

Mr. Tuen Eckhart, of New Albany, was in town this week buying logs for the Ohio River Log Co., New Albany, Ind.

Miss Ava Cashman spent several days last week with Miss Mattie Lee Rhodes.

Miss Lena Tabor spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Earl Payne.

Mr. William Prout, of Louisville, spent the week-end with his aunt, Miss Lizzie Hall.

IRVINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Hawes, Louisville have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hawes.

Senator S. P. Parks, Frankfort, was here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hottell were in Louisville, last Tuesday to attend the funeral of their brother-in-law, John Lowe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Herndon have returned from a lengthy visit with their children, Messrs and Mesdames John Waller, Hopkinsville and John Berry, Nashville.

A little son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hennington on Tuesday, Feb. 10th, Wm. E. Henniger.

Ed Morrison, Cloverport, was in town Saturday and attended the funeral of Jess Gardner.

Mrs. Dale Smith and Miss Helen Smith, Louisville, visited friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morrison spent the week-end at Hawesville.

Dr. L. B. Moremen, Chicago, and Lewis Bennett Moremen, who is attending school at Lexington, spent the week-end with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Newsom Gardner were called to Evansville, Wednesday on account of the illness and death of Jess Gardner.

Miss Clara Foote, Bewleyville, has been the guest of Miss Ruth Gross. Ode Whoberry, Louisville, was here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miles have moved in their home on Walnut St.

Dr. W. B. Taylor and Scott Brown are improving after a slight attack of influenza.

Rep. R. J. Cain and Don Cain came home Thursday from Frankfort, for a few days stay.

Miss Dorothy Cain has returned home after a few days stay in Frankfort, with her father, Rep. R. J. Cain.

Mrs. W. W. Keith has been on the sick list.

DR. EDWARD L. TERSTEGGE, acting president of the Louisville Automobile Club, will address the meeting on pending legislation. C. A. Brownell, Detroit advertising manager of the Ford Motor Company, will speak.

Mrs. J. C. Payne went to Leitchfield Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Will Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Neafus are on the sick list. Miss Haskell, Louisville, is in attendance.

Mrs. Mary Heston, Hardinsburg attended the funeral of her granddaughter, Miss Susie Thomas Payne, on Wednesday the 11th.

The Methodist revival closed Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Springate left Saturday for Indianapolis, where he will go in the Produce business.

FORD DEALERS OF STATE TO HOLD MEETING, FEB. 26.

Ford dealers who receive their cars through the Louisville agency, of whom there are 135 in Kentucky, part of Indiana and Tennessee, will hold a dinner meeting at the Seelbach, Thursday evening, February 26, in Louisville.

Albert L. Terstegge, acting president of the Louisville Automobile Club, will address the meeting on pending legislation. C. A. Brownell, Detroit advertising manager of the Ford Motor Company, will speak.

FRYMIRE

We are glad to report Mrs. S. J. Brashear much better at this writing.

Several from here attended the sale at Russell Pendleton's near Shiloh, last Saturday.

Vertis Sketo spent the week-end with L. S. Brashear.

Mr. O. M. Wheeler and sister, Miss Ida, spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Paris Barr.

Eugene Pollock was in Louisville, last week selling his tobacco

VICTIMS RESCUED

Kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles are most dangerous because of their insidious attacks. Heed the first warning they give that they need attention by taking

GOLD MEDAL
MARBLE OIL
CAPSULES.

The world's standard remedy for these disorders, will often ward off these diseases and strengthen the body against further attacks. Three sizes, all druggists. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

COMING TO Cannelton, Ind.

SUNLIGHT HOTEL,
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10
FOR ONE DAY ONLY

Hours 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.
UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST

Brings the knowledge of their Organization experience in their Successful Treatment of

Thousands of Cases Offers Services Free of Charge

The United Doctors is an organization of reputable, licensed physicians. They are all specialists in the treatment of certain diseases. They treat without surgical operations diseases of all internal organs, stomach, intestines, constipation, piles, liver, spleen, heart, nerves, skin, rheumatism, sciatica, goitre, tape-worm, leg ulcers and all long standing, deep seated diseases. Many years experience. The complete record of thousands of cases successfully treated prove that their methods are right. They were among the first to earn the name.

"BLOODLESS SURGEONS"

Each staff member has at his command the knowledge and resources of the organization. Many people suffer from diseases that can be alleviated just because they cannot afford to go to high priced Specialists and Hospitals at a long distance from their home. No community has a sufficient number suffering from these diseases to support special Hospitals for their treatment and cure. The United Doctors have solved the problem. Their highly trained Specialists go to each community and will advise a proper course of treatment for the sufferers and instruct them how to take care of themselves at home. No matter what you have been told or the experience you had with other physicians, consult him on this visit. It costs nothing. If your case is incurable he will give you advice as may stay and relieve the disease. Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents or guardians.—Ad.

Laboratories, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

U. S. UNLOOSENS GRIP ON ROADS

Work of Clearing Tracks for Return of Properties March 1, Is Under Way.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Actual relinquishment of Government control over railroad operations has already begun.

Equipment of the various roads is being brought back so far as possible to owning lines. Car records are being kept for each line, and all traffic is being given to and routed over and in so far as possible by the originating carriers. Exception has been made in the case of dislocation of traffic as the result of the coal situation.

Railroad systems which have been divided, part in one region of Federal operation and part in another, are to be operated in the future as units, lines or systems.

By March 1, it is expected the operation to the carriers will be back to a comparatively simple basis, though representatives of many of the railroads feel that they never will recover traffic diverted to other lines by the Government.

Straightening out of the financial tangle of the roads is another matter, however, and it will take months, if not years, for the consummation of the adjustment of accounts and claims.

The first division of the Railroad

Administration to be abolished is that of capital expenditures. On February 15, this division will go into the discard. In its place a division of liquidation claims is to be created, headed by Max Thelan, Director of Public Relations and former chairman of the California Utilities Commission. To this new division will fall share of the work of untangling pending equipment and other claims.

Director-General Hines probably will continue as Director-General of Railroads for some time after the actual relinquishment of the lines, to make settlements with the various corporations.

Most of the 1,200 employees of the Railroad Administration, 80 of whom are in Washington, will be released on the first of the month.

More than $2,000,000 are involved in the financial settlements that will be necessary.

GARFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Steerman and baby were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Vos Shoemate.

V. B. Mattingly was in Louisville, last week.

The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ullitt, who died Tuesday was buried the following day in the Bruner cemetery.

Eli Pile, of Harned, was here last week.

Richard Whitworth was in Louisville, last week to see his son-in-law, G. F. Bandy, who is under medical treatment there. Mr. Bandy is reported as getting along nicely.

J. R. Mitchell, of Moolevilles, was here last week. He is one of the oldest merchants in the county, has been in the mercantile business 48 years.

Mrs. Claude Shoemate is visiting relatives in Louisville.

S. M. Haynes has bought Mrs. Lou Norton's farm and will move soon.

"I'll be your partner for this number"

—Chesterfield

COMPANIONSHIP in a cigarette? Yes, sir! It's in Chesterfields, sure as you live. Chesterfields begin where other cigarettes leave off. They not only please—they "Satisfy!"

A Fine Farm For Sale!

We have on our list one of the very best farms in Breckinridge county, 234 acres, 9 room residence, 2 large fine barns, 1 tenant house, well fenced and watered and in an excellent state of cultivation. 75 acres in grass and clover 100 acres of valuable timber. Level for machinery. 3 miles of railroad and river. Positively one of the best and most productive farms in this section of country. Splendid community. Price reasonable. Easy terms. The right farm for the right man.

Ball & Adkisson, Hardinsburg, Ky.

REUNION OF THE JOHN HAMPTON FAMILY, KIRK.

Kirk, Ky., Feb. 16, 1920. (Special)—Mr and Mrs. John H. Hampton, of this place, were given the surprise of their lives today when their five surviving sons, daughters-in-law, grand-son, grand-daughter and great-grand-daughter, without notice, rushed in on them on nearing Mr. Hampton's 86th birthday.

The party consisted of Alexander Hampton, of Louisville, Ky.; John M. Hampton, of Portland, Oregon; Henry B. Hampton, Francis M. Hampton, wife and daughter and Dewey T. Hampton, of Louisville; and Capt. Bennie Carnth Hampton, wife and daughter, of Camp Taylor, Ky.

Mr. Hampton was born in Hardin county, Feb. 18th, 1834. He is a Civil War veteran, and served under Col. Boone's 28th Infantry, 2nd brigade, 2nd division, all through the Atlantic Campaign. The most severe fighting being at Nashville, Tenn. A prominent citizen and the father of thirteen children. He is known throughout Hardin, Grayson and Breckinridge counties as the most efficient carpenter that ever picked up a tool, and a man whose word is always his bond. His first wife was Nancy J. Franklin, of Hardin county, by whom were born six children; four sons and two daughters, two of whom survive, Alexander and J. M. (Mc) Hampton. All born in Hardin county except the youngest.

J. M. Hampton, the oldest, soon after his marriage engaged in the mercantile business at Big Clifty, Ky., later removing to Vine Grove, and thence to Melfer, Okla., where he died in 1902 leaving a large family of sons and daughters. Ada Hampton died while yet in her teens. Alexander Hampton is a first class carpenter of Louisville, owns his home at 1823 Greenwood Avenue, where he resides with his wife and two children. He is the only son who ever kept up his end with his father as a carpenter. Betsey Hampton died when a child. J. M. Hampton is a vocal musician, an expert telegrapher, and has been on the Pacific coast for 21 years. Rev. Bennie F. Hampton, born at Big Clifty, Ky., was a deep student and Baptist minister, preaching his first sermon at Big Clifty, on the very day he was 14 years of age, dying at Mampa, Idaho in 1899, aged 28; a young man, but old in Ministerial Service.

Mr. Hampton's second wife was Martha A. Stillwell by whom seven children were born; five sons and two daughters. All born in Breckinridge county. Idia Belle married Orb Hickerson, dying at the age of 26, leaving one daughter. Mary Ellen, a school teacher, married Victor Orendorff, dying at the age of 26, leaving one daughter. Harrison C. and Louis A. Hampton died at the age of 21 and 20.

Henry B. and Francis M. Hampton are in business at 1015 West Broadway, doing a lucrative business, and Dewey T. Hampton is an expert barber, of Louisville, all prominent young men. Francis married Carrie Stillwell. They have one child, a daughter, Capt. Bennie C. Hampton, son of John M. Hampton, was born in Hardin county, 1891. He enlisted at Los Angeles, Cal., as a private soon after the outbreak of the late war, serving overseas with the 14th Field Artillery and later transferred to the embarkation camp returning home last September and was assigned to Camp Taylor, for duty as an instructor. Capt. Hampton married Elsie Leece, of Portland, Oregon. They have one daughter being born while the Capt. was over seas. J. M. Hampton, four sons, namely Capt. Hampton, Wade Hampton, associated with the White House, San Francisco's largest department store; Maxie E. Hampton, associated with a large store at Nampa, Idaho; and Ernest Hampton, aged 12 years, of Los Angeles, Cal.; who will graduate in high school this coming fall.

The father of all these children is still active, hearty and in good health and bids fair to reach his hundredth year. Mr. and Mrs. Hampton were just about as happy a couple as it is possible to be. Their faces were radiant with joy and many reminiscences of the past were delved into and enjoyed by all. The reunion was occasioned by the visit of J. M. Hampton who had not seen his father for 30 years. And it was a happy reunion enjoyed by all and one that will never be forgotten.

FIREST PRESIDENT WAS SECOND TO RICHEST MAN IN U. S. IN HIS DAY.

Washington was a man of extraordinary activity. It was his custom to rise at 4 o'clock, and he claimed that a great deal of his work was done while others slept. "My manner of living," he wrote, "is plain, and I do not mean to be put out by it."

It was said of him, "At the time of his marriage it is no great strain of metaphor to say that Washington had now his first chance to sit down since the days when he had pored over his school copybook." After the war and his first term as president Washington found his estates run down and unprofitable, yet he so redeemed his fortunes by his application to his affairs and by good business judgement that he died the second richest man in America at that time.—Christian Herald.

MISS FORREST HARDIN RE-CUPERATING IN LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, Feb. 16. (Special to The Breckenridge News)—Miss Forrest Hardin, Holt, Ky., who has been in St. Anthony's Hospital, in this city, with a very painful dislocated shoulder, is now at her sister's, Mrs. M. H. Fontaine, and Mr. Fontaine, 834 Second Street, where she will remain several weeks under treatment of Dr. Edwin T. Bruce until he thinks proper for her to return home.

February Specials

A Special Worth While

Mens' Shoes

"Stronger than the Law"

$4.75

The present value of these shoes is $6.50 and they will be much higher next fall.

February Special in

Granite Ware

$1.19

10 Quart Preserving Kettles
12 Quart Water Buckets
14 Quart Dish Pans

All white and white lined, all first quality and each item is at least 35c below factory cost.

Cow Hide Saddles

A $28.50 Value at

$25.00

only five to sell at this price

A Good

Work Bridle

Worth $3.75 Regular, at

$2.98

Grocery Specials

Lenox Soap-----	5c
Classic White Soap-----	6c
1 lb. can Bon Bon Baking
Powder (worth 25c)-----	10c
Quaker and Mother's Oats	12c

"Quality Store"

B.F. BEARD & CO.
HARDINSBURG

Breckenridge News. I am trying to be in time as my paper is not out until the 11th. I have been away from Kentucky for twenty-seven years, but I can't do without the paper as I was raised near Hardinsburg. No place like Kentucky. With best wishes to you and the paper. Mrs. J. E. Scott, Alba, Texas.

THINKS IT THE BEST COUNTY PAPER.

Mr. Jno. D. Babbage, Cloverport, Ky. Dear Sir: You will find enclosed a check for $3.00 as I am not sure when we paid our subscription. Mr.

Miller remarked after reading The Breckenridge News that it was the best county paper he ever saw. Respectfully, Mrs. J. L. Miller, Cruger, Miss.

MISS EFFIE POOL'S DEATH COMES AS A SHOCK.

Garfield, Ky., Feb. 16. (Special)—The death of Miss Effie Pool came as a shock to her many friends. Her remains were laid to rest Friday in the Garfield cemetery. One brother, Charlie Pool and a sister, Mrs. Alvah Beachamp survive.

Introducing the Season's Newest Shapes

BEEN AWAY 21 YEARS.

Dear Mr. Babbage: You will find enclosed $1.50 for which send me The

RENEWES FOR FOUR MONTHS.

Mr. Jno. D. Babbage. Dear Sir: I think our time for The Breckinridge News has expired, so I enclose 50 cents for four more months. Yours truly, Jerrie K. Dutschke, 508 S. Main Charleston, Mo.

A FAITHFUL SUBSCRIBER.

Mr. Jno. D. Babbage, Editor, Cloverport, Ky. Dear Mr. Babbage: Enclosed please find check for $1.50 for which please send me your valuable paper, The Breckenridge News, for one year, from Feb. 22, 1920 to Feb. 22, 1921. With best wishes to you and your family. I am truly, Mrs. J. B. Randall, 206 Shawnee Place, Louisville, Ky.

WANTED

YOUNG LADIES AND

YOUNG MEN LEARN TO WEAVE

ON AUTOMATIC LOOMS GOOD

WAGES PAID WHILE

YOU ARE LEARNING

IF YOU HAVE FAIR ABILITY YOU

CAN EARN EXCEPTIONAL WAGES

AFTER A FEW MONTHS TRAINING

APPLY AT ONCE TO

INDIANA COTTON MILLS

CANNETON, IND.

These hats are chic for early Spring wear and are ready trimmed. They arrived Monday. They are very new and represent the season's prevailing shapes and colors.

Coat Suits, Spring Coats, Blouses

These articles are all new Spring goods, and each week brings something more in, making a good variety for your selection.

Note Special: Children's gingham dresses in plaids and solid colors. A large assortment. Priced at $2.50 and $2.75, Ages 6 to 14 years.

MRS. ETHEL O. HILLS

HAMMAN'S STORE BUILDING
CLOVERPORT, KENTUCKY

THE BRECKENRIDGE NEWS

JNO. D. BABBAGE, Editor and Publisher

EIGHT PAGES

ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY

1876

44th YEAR OF SUCCESS

1920

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Subscription price $15.00 a year; 50c for 4 months; 75c for 6 months. Business Locals 10c per line and 5c for each additional insertion. Card of Thanks, over 5 lines, charged for at the rate of 10c per line. Obituaries charged for at the rate of 5c per line, money in advance. Examine the label on your paper. If it is not correct, please notify us.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

When you have finished reading your copy of THE BRECKENRIDGE NEWS hand it to a friend who is not a subscriber; do not throw it away or destroy it.

WEDNESDAY,

FEBRUARY 18, 1920

ONE WHO IS MAKING GOOD

Paul Compton was in Hardinsburg, the first day of Circuit Court, shaking hands and smiling on his old friends at home and everybody smiled on him. We remember when Paul, a green country boy working on his father's farm near Garfield, was called by the late Morris Beard to a position in his bank. Paul had just returned from school and was behind a plow when Morris called him. He made good and succeeded Mr. Beard after his death as cashier of The Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Co. He resigned from this position and is now Vice President and secretary of the Lincoln Savings Bank & Trust Co., one of the leading banks in Louisville. This is a wonderful step. It shows what a young man may rise to when he is honest, faithful and true to his work and his friends.

WORTHY OF YOUR READING

In this issue of The Breckenridge News appears two interesting articles which we are anxious that our readers should not overlook. First, is the article headed "The Town That Would Not Be A City;" pointing out the idea that it's better to have the right sort of town in preference to trying to make a big city out of a small town. And the writer goes on and suggests the many ways in which a small town may be improved and made a place of beauty where the inhabitants may find happiness, pride and contentment, which, after all, are the things we care for most in our surroundings.

The other article to which we refer is Mr. Thos. A. Edison's interview of himself written on his seventy-third birthday celebrated last week. Mr. Edison credits all of his accomplishments to work more than genius. His views of the possibilities of the labor unions are worthy of your reading.

It behooves every citizen in Cloverport to attend the city council meeting on March 1, and hear the plans proposed by Engineer Gillig of Cincinnati, for building water-works in our town.

Certainly the opportunity for us to build water-works is knocking at our door, and the question is, will we accept it?

Whether the city council will propose to accept the plans and suggestions made by Mr. Gillig or not, is optional. But to have every merchant, business man and citizen attend the meeting, would be encouraging and more than likely some definite steps could be taken.

Form the habit of reading the advertisements of your home merchants that are in The Breckenridge News each week. They are offering merchandise and bargains that equal any mail order house in the United States.

It took fourteen thousand men with 1,000 trucks to dig New York City out from under its $5,000,000 snowfall.

Perhaps Mr. Hoover declines to be a candidate for president until all the women can vote.

EVENTS THAT TRANSPired TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Taken From The Breckenridge News, Wednesday, February 20, 1885

In Cloverport.

Our neighbors at Tobinsport, are walking on the ice.

—(o)—

L. McGavock was here Monday.

—(o)—

Miss Georgia White leaves today for New Orleans, La.

—(o)—

Jim King, near Irvington, has a fine pair of twin babies at his home, born last week.

—(o)—

Geo. H. Willis, Glen Dean, dropped in to see us last week and renewed for another year.

—(o)—

Master Mechanic Ferry made a business trip to Hamilton, Ohio, Thursday.

—(o)—

Mack Payne and Bush Stiff came in from Gentryville, Mo., last week to visit their old home in Lodiburg.

—(o)—

The Falon coal mines pays out about $3,500 every month.

—(o)—

In Irvington—At regular meeting of the pastor officers and members of the Baptist church, Mr. Jas. Lewis was licensed to preach.

—(o)—

Master Louis Jolly has ordered 3 pigs "O. I. C." stock at a cost of $65. These hogs are white Chester breed. Louis is an enterprising boy and is building high hopes on the income he expects to realize from his venture.

—(o)—

Miss Maggie Greenwood, of "Sunrise Slope" suffered a keen disappointment by the excessive cold in the loss of about eighty geraniums, besides other plants.

FARM AND STOCK

C. F. Tinius, living near Hardinsburg, said that he had burned his plant beds, 500 feet in all, has 15 acres of corn ground broken and expects to plant 20 or 25 acres of tobacco and 30 acres of corn. Said he was far ahead of last year's work that he is rather proud of it. We think so too. He has a right to be proud.

—(o)—

Beard Brothers sold a load of mules last week to Bob Crow, Madisonville, Ky. Prices $165 to $350. They shipped a load of cattle Saturday to Louisville.

—(o)—

Charley Miller shipped from McQuady, last Monday a load of cattle averaging around 900 pounds, all his own raising. Mr. Miller and his son are cutting out tobacco this year, giving their entire attention to raising stock. They have 700 acres of land, 250 of it in grass.

—(o)—

H. H. Norton, Webster, shipped 2 loads of cattle to Louisville, Monday.

The COUNTRY TOWN

THE TOWN THAT WOULD NOT BE A CITY.

"But for me," wrote Pultarch, "I live in a little town where I am willing to continue, lest it should grow less."

Pultarch was a good citizen, and it is safe to say that he had the friendship as well as the respect of his neighbors. The man who loves his townsmen; and one who would have his shortcomings charged to himself and not to an obscure birthplace or provincial residence could not but have been a man of influence in local affairs—the sort of man to whom the neighbors would go for advice and assistance, equally confident of his sanity and his good will.

I am afraid, though, that if Plutarch lived today, much as most of us might value him as a neighbor, we should secretly look upon him as rather old foeyish and out of date.

Remain in a small town for fear that it should become smaller? Not we. If it is not going to get bigger, let us go to some town that will.

The current American idea of a town is—a place that is going to be a city.

The obsession of bigness is upon us. The census reports are the final word about our cities. Chicago in twenty years catches and then hopelessly outdistances Philadelphia. Chicago is a "live" city, one of the marvels of our time. Philadelphia has the adjectives "slow" and "sleepy" fastened upon her garments and wears them as a permanent badge of unworthiness.

Down in our South country, Atlanta and Birmingham and Memphis waited for the census reports to see which was the "biggest," the "most progressive," the "best" town. There was joy in Atlanta and disappointment in Memphis when the reports of the last census came out.

So it is elsewhere. Urbetta wants new mills and machine shops that it may rival Greattown in population and bank clearings. Bigburg wants a new opera house and a street car line down the two main streets, so that it may get in the Urbetta class.

Littleville lays off new streets and sells good farm lands at unreasonable prices, hoping this way to start a "boom" and catch up with Bigburg.

And out there at the Cross Roads where half a dozen little houses have been put up near the church and the store and the blacksmith shop, to catch and hold for a few months at a time a few families of the more transient and shiftless laboring class—out there in the sun-quicken and wind-refreshed fields, the building of another inconvenient, unsightly house to rent to some unknown straggler is regarded hopefully as another step toward the blissful goal of real townhood.

Yet what real concern to Philadelphia can it be whether that city—making a wholesome and steady growth—is second or third in the list of great cities? What can a few thousand names more or less in the census-takers' books amount to with either Atlanta or Memphis when it comes to determining their real merits as cities—their desirability as places for men to live and work, and for children to be born and grow up in?

Does Urbetta really need new manufacturing plants, new rows of squalid "mill-hand" houses, new supplies of smoke and dust and grime, when it thrives on its trade with the surrounding country and has unimproved and unsuspected beauty spots all along the banks of the little river where the big mills "ought to be?"

Has it ever occurred to Bigburg that it would add more to that place's charm and fragrance to move the pig-pens out of town, to fill up the mudholes where the "streets" dwindle down into country roads, and to pull down the ramshackle old firetraps across from the depot, than to build an opera house or street car line with the prospect of seeing the builder get 2 per cent on his money?

And Littleville, where each family has, from either front or back yard, a fine view of wooded cliff, and where all wade through mud in wet weather and kick up the dust in dry weather as they go to church or postoffice—cannot Littleville realize that what it needs is to put down a few rods of concrete walk and to make sure that the trees on the cliff will not be cut?

The fields can grow grass and grain and help pay for the walks, if they are left as fields; cut up into lots, big sale of lots and the "phenomenal growth of our young city," with never a word about the beauty of the green-and white—of the flowers and the trees and the birds and the insects and the people.

But why continue the list? We all know these defects of our cities—the hopeless squalor and the reeking filth that hide behind the skyscraper; the ragged, unkempt district that both joins and separates towns and country. We have seen them, and a thousand other unlovely sights, so often that we have come complacently to accept them as part of the natural order of things; or else have imagined that the way to get rid of them is to "boost the town" and have it grow.

LET 'er blow. An exciting yarn, a good fire, the "satisfy smoke," and you're fixed for the evening. And, mind you, the "satisfy" blend can't be copied—that's why only Chesterfields can "satisfy."

A blizzard?
We should worry
—Chesterfield

3% on Time Deposits

If only people came in and land went up and a few men grew rich because of that, all was well, and we need not concern ourselves about the noble trees that were cut down, the clear springs that became defiled, or the poorer families that were ever crowded into less and less desirable homes.

Surely there is another type of city, a finer and higher town ideal. The city that shall be all beautiful, the town that desires more inhabitants less than better and happier citizens—surely these things exist not only in imagination, but somewhere in the splendid palpable reality, built by the cheerful toil of men who love their homes and plantations on rocky hillside or billowing prairie with which they recognize kinship. Surely, too, these overambitious towns of ours, blind in their worship of size and numbers, may yet open their eyes and see the possibilities that lie about hamlet and village.

"A city is not builded in a day," sings one of our present-day poets; and we need not expect to see our ideal city, our contented town, spring suddenly into existence. The passion for virtue and beauty and sanity of life is not going to possess any existing "metropolis" and convert it into the city of our dreams. There is no Merlin of industry to build for us a modern Camelot. Nor can we more than hope that our little town will speedily recognize its kinship with the fields and deliberately set itself the mission of living not only among but with them, of having the atmosphere flowing through its streets and extending its modernities out into their lanes until town and country become but parts of a single well-defined and well-organized whole.

Yet something like this, it seems to me, must come to pass. Slowly, no doubt, as the growth of the trees in the forest or the city street, but none less surely and irrevocably, the little town will come into its own. Some day this town will know itself not as a means, but an end, and plan to become the right sort of town instead of longing to become any sort of a city.

Some day let us hope our little city will realize that the pleasant views from the banks or the river and the shadowy "courting lanes" leading down to the water's edge are real assets, and that properly conserved and developed they will add more to the satisfaction and daily serenity of life of the city's people than would a new factory, the building of which would spoil the vista and make necessary the cutting down of the immemorial elms and stately sycamores. When the city has realized this, beauty in any part of it will be cherished, and untidiness or unwholesomeness in a backyard will be considered a crime against the community.

Then, if the promoter of the new factory comes to town, we can imagine the city's head men taking him far down the river bank and saying: "Here, we think, would be a good place for your plant. You see that your smoke will drift away from the town; the railroad spur you need will run behind this bank almost out of sight; your buildings will not spoil our fine view across the river; and up there on this slope will be a fine place for your workers to live if you wish to build a village for them. We shall insist on paved streets, liberal front yards and gardens, neat exteriors and modern conveniences for these houses. We are willing to help

(Continued on Page 8)

For Sale!

BLACK JACK

(16 Hands High)

Known as

Alex Gray Jack

Also One Black

Saddle and

Harness Horse

Will Sell or Trade

For other Stock

D. H. SMITH

Garfield, Ky.

Information About Breckinridge County Conditions

Because of our extensive connections and close contact with the business and financial situation in Breckinridge county, we are often able to give special information upon business and financial subjects that is particularly valuable to citizens of this community.

We are glad to co-operate with you at any time because our aim is to do everything we can to further the welfare and prosperity of this growing territory.

BANK OF HARDINSBURG &amp; TRUST CO.

HARDINSBURG, KY.

"The Bank that makes you feel at Home"

Why Not Wake Up!

To the fact that we are selling merchandise cheaper than wholesale price. Buy now before the new Spring goods arrives and save money.

Ladies good quality silk hose. Colors: $1.25 brown and grey.

$1.75

Ladies brown lisle hose only a few left at this price.

50c

Ladies Black Fleece lined hose.

35c

Men's black and grey Jeans pants, all sizes.

$3.50

This week only, to close out our Men's "fur" Caps.

$1.98

Ladies good quality percale and chambray bungalow aprons.

$1.25

Ladies lace and embroidery trimmed corset covers of good quality cambric.

23c

For a pair of Men's solid leather work shoes in black or tan.

$3.50

Ladies lace and embroidery trimmed cambric gowns. A bargain.

75c

We have a few more bars of Rub-no-more Soap and Washing Powder at

5c

Golden Rule Store

Cloverport, Ky.

The Breckenridge News

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 18, 1920

Entered at the Post Office at Cloverport, Ky., as second class matter.

THIS PAPER REPRESENTED FOR FOREIGN ADVERTISING BY THE

AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

GENERAL OFFICES NEW YORK AND CHICAGO

BRANCHES IN ALL THE PRINCIPAL CITIES

RATES FOR POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Precinct and City Offices $ 2.50
For County Offices $ 5.00
For State and District Offices $15.00
For Calls, per line .10
For Cards, per line .10
For all Publications in the interest of individuals or expression of individual views, per line .10

STARK-LOWMAN CO.
Louisville Representatives

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perkins, of Ammons, were in Owensboro, visiting Mrs. Carey Smith, last week.

Mrs. Clyde Hall, of Louisville, spent Thursday the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milt Matheny.

David B. Phelps made a business trip to Louisville, last week.

Paul Lewis, cashier of the Breckinridge-Bank of Cloverport, spent Wednesday and Thursday in Louisville, on business.

Mrs. Chas Lyons, of McQuady, spent the week-end in Louisville.

Mrs. Annie D. Smiley and grandchildren, Misses Ora Belle and Rachel Basham and Everett Basham left Thursday morning for Chicago, where they will make an extended visit with Mrs. Smiley's daughter, Mrs. Florence Pemberton.

Mrs. David Brainerd Phelps will be hostess to the Wednesday Club this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Golan Wethington and son, have located in Toledo, O., where Mr. Wethington has accepted a position with the Overland Auto mobile Co.

V. G. Babbage, Notary Public.

Miss Ola Mattingly, of Huntingburg, Ind., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Joe Beavin and Mrs. Beavin.

Mr. Thos. Blythe, of Irvington, was here Sunday to see his brother, Mr. John Blythe and family, who have been ill with influenza.

Mrs. L. H. Pate and daughter, Miss Irene Pate and Mr. Griffin Eberhardt, of Owensboro, spent Sunday with Mrs. Pate's sister, Mrs. L. V. Chapin. Mr. Chapin and Miss Maydee Chapin.

Mrs. Albert Cockerill and children, went to Louisville, Thursday for a visit with relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Cockerill.

Mr. Edward Couch has returned to Ravenna, Ky., from a visit here with his parents, Rev. A. N. Couch and Mrs. Couch.

Mrs. C. W. Moorman will be hostess to the Ladies Reading Club this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henton Driskell went to Henderson, Tuesday where Mrs. Driskell remained until Saturday the guest of her brother, Mr. Wm. Hoffman, and Mrs. Hoffman.

Mr. Owen T. Allen, of West Point, spent the week-end the guest of Miss Elizabeth Bishoff.

Mr. Henry Jordan, of Irvington, was the guest Sunday of Miss Irene Swarnes.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kirkham and children have returned to their home in New Albany, after spending a few days with Mrs. Kirkham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Worden.

Miss Louise Nicholas is in Parkersburg, W. Va., for a fortnight's visit with Miss Donna Ross.

Rev. T. N. Williams, of Louisville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Hamman, Sunday.

Mr. Geo. McManus has returned from Birmingham, Ala., where he spent several days on business.

Mrs. Ethel O. Hills was in Louisville, Friday, making spring purchases for her Ready-to-wear shop.

FLU MORTALITY SHOWS DROP RATE IN COUNTRY THIS YEAR.

Washington.—The mortality rate due to the influenza epidemic this year was about half of that in 1918, said a statement to-day by the Public Health Service, announcing that the present epidemic apparently had reached its peak.

A comparison of the excess mortality rate per 100,000 of population for the respective peak weeks of 1920 and 1918 shows: Chicago, 1,886, compared with 3,620 in 1920; Milwaukee, 1,434, as compared with 1,915; Washington, 2,072 as compared with 9,759.

"These rates may be taken as a fair indication of conditions throughout the country," it was said. "With the exception of some cities in Massachusetts and New York State, exclusive of New York City, practically all of the reports indicate a decline."

TO PEEL ORANGES EASILY.

When peeling an orange lay the fruit in boiling water from 3 to 5 minutes, remove and the peel will come off twice as easy, as well as the white part next to the orange.—Contributed.

SOCIETY

Mr. M. T. Frank's Daughter Marries In Iowa.

Mr. Lewis Dyer and Miss Alice Frank, both well known young people of Webb, were married in Spencer last Saturday, afternoon. Rev. Thomas of the Spencer Baptist church officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Axel Rustan accompanied them as witnesses.

The groom is the senior partner of the firm of Dyer & Sharp, of the Webb Cafe, and also has charge of the Gem Theatre. He is a hustling young business man, and is making good.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Frank and has lived in and near Webb for the past three years.

Both of the contracting parties are well known and well liked by the people of the community and have the good wishes of every one. The Record extends hearty congratulations.

—Webb, Iowa Hustler.

Butler-Bruington Wedding in Hardinsburg.

Harned, Ky., Feb. 16. (Special)—Miss Anna May Butler and Mr. Glen

Local Church News

The report of the treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Society, Methodist church shows an increase of $54 over any previous year's work. The total collections for 1919 amounted to $189.19; $36 of this was given for the annual pledge, $22 for the Week of Prayer and Self Denial offering, $40 for the "Ella B. Moorman" scholarship, the remainder was derived from dues and smaller offerings.

The society has twenty-four members enrolled, with a good attendance at the monthly meetings and interest in the work in general is constantly increasing.

The newly elected officers for the ensuing year are: president, Mrs. V. G. Babbage; vice pres., Mrs. J. R. Randolph; recording secretary, Mrs. Grist; treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Moorman; Superintendent of Social Service, Mrs. David B. Phelps; Supt. of Mission Study and Publicity, Mrs. Martha Smith; Supt. of Young People's Work, Mrs. T. J. Ferry; Supt. of Juniors, Miss Mildren D. Babbage; Supt. of Supplies, Mrs. Wm. Hoffoush.

$152 was paid through the treasury of the Woman's Missionary Society in Hardinsburg Methodist church for the year 1919. This sum consisted of the two scholarship funds, "Allie D. Beard," supported by M. D. Beard, and the "Vivian Daniel," by Miss Tula Daniel. This sum is raised annually even tho the society does not always have its regular monthly meetings.

The Junior Epworth League of the Methodist church has paid in full for the year 1919-1920 its mission pledge of $10. on the "African Special." The Junior League has a membership of eighteen and the following named are officers: president, Hugh B. Stevens; vice president, Maurice Bandy; secretary, Miss Emmelon Harrington; treasurer, Miss Katherine Phelps; Supt. 1st Dept., Miss Jane Sawyer; Supt. 2nd Dept., John McGavock; Supt. 3rd Dept., Miss Mayme Bannon Sawyer; Supt. 4th Dept., Miss Marion Behen.

Rev. T. N. William, of Louisville, has a most interesting Bible Class in the Lucile Memorial Presbyterian Sunday-school. Dr. Williams lecturers before the class every other Sunday and his subjects deal with the present day problems.

HILL ITEMS

Mr. C. W. Satterfield received a telegram on Tuesday the 10th, saying Pete Campbell was dead. He was the second and 19 year old son of Mrs. Agnes Campbell of Herrin, Ill., and died with pneumonia. Mrs. Campbell is a sister of Mrs. Satterfield, who received a letter previous to the message saying all of her four children were very ill. Mrs. Walter Deaton lives in Frankfort, Ill., only a short distance, but ill. Charlie and Marie sick at home. Mrs. Clyde Rowe, a sister living in Herrin, was unable to go to her sister owing to Mr. Rowe's intense suffering with appendicitis. Mrs. James Rawlins, of Pineville, Ky., reached Herrin in time to attend the funeral of her nephew on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Satterfield was prevented from going on account of physical conditions.

Miss Annie Allen is ill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Conrad. Miss Allen went to see Mrs. E. B. Oglesby and was taken with the flu and too ill to be brought home.

Mrs. Emma Laslie is ill at the home of Mrs. Julia Wood. Mrs. Wood, Lee and John Wood are better.

Miss Lillian May, an assistant in the post-office at Harned, Ky., who has been very sick is at the home of her parents on the Hill, is improving.

GALLEY NO 12

Mr. and Mrs. Chas Keil and children are convalescent from the flu.

Allen Black is reported to be improving slowly.

Misses Eva and Emma Black are sick at the home of their grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy Black.

HENNING-WESSEL

Miss Clara Henning, daughter of Mr. David Henning, of Shively, and Mr. Wessel, of Louisville, were married Tuesday, Feb. 17, in St. Ann's church at Shively.

Means Plenty Eggs and Healthy Chicks

OLD KENTUCKY MFG. CO., Inc., Paducah, Ky.

For Sale By G. WETHINGTON and all good dealers

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

NOTE—Please notify the editor when you desire advertisements discontinued.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Home grown seed corn specially selected from stalks of good sound corn and well developed ears. Producing two ears to the stalk. Have limited quantity for sale at $3.50 per bushel. Send your orders to Woosley & Son, Webster, Ky.

FOR SALE—One heavy work team, horses. Team about 12 years old. Dr. D. S. Spire, Hardinsburg, Ky.

FOR SALE—Two Poland China sows, farrow in March. Thos. O'Donoghue, Hardinsburg, Ky.

FOR SALE—Pair sorrel mare mules coming five. Sound. Also fine driving and saddle mares. Address H. L. Bruner, Union Star, Ky.

FOR SALE—White Wyandotte Eggs for Hatching from Regal-Dorcas, the World's largest Wyandotte breeder. Direct descendants of this wonderful strain are in my pens and flock, none better to buy. Wonderful layers and winners. Eggs $2.50 to $5.00 per 15. Correspondence solicited. Herbert Hall, Hardinsburg, Ky.

FOR SALE—Poultry Farm of 3 acres with established trade, six room house and out buildings. Fruit and water, near railroad station. Address owner, J. R. McMullen, Addison, Ky.

FOR SALE—Fine farm, 280 acres, 75 or 80 acres good bottom land, 2 good barns, good dwelling, plenty of fine water, four and a half miles South of Hardinsburg on Jewels Creek. This is one of the best farms in the county. For price and terms write John T. Hoben, Hardinsburg, Ky.

FOR SALE—One good two story eight room house with three porches, electric lights, good cistern, coal house and wood house. A nice corner lot with a good garden. One square from post-office. Price reasonable. See E. B. English, Hardinsburg, Ky.

FOR SALE—Two lots with houses and other buildings, located on Bishop Hill, near Horace Newton's and Robert Moorman's. This property can be bought at a reasonable price. Ask or write Jno. D. Babbage, Cloperton, Ky.

WANTED

WANTED—A farm hand, wages or part of crop. Thos O'Donoghue, Hardinsburg, Ky., Route 1 Box 67.

WANTED—Salesmen to solicit orders for lubricating oils, greases and paints. Salary or Commission. Address Lincoln Oil Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

MISCELLANEOUS

HOLSTEIN BULLS—The dairy business pays. Increase your milk yield. Breed your cows to a registered Holstein Bull. See J. R. Eskridge, Hardinsburg, Ky.

FOR THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harlow desire to thank the people of Glen Dean community for their many kind acts in preparing the house for their return with the remains of their son, Shell, also for the acts of courtesy by the young men who assisted in the funeral and burial.

NOTICE

All persons having claims against the estate of either Thomas O. Ryan, deceased or that of Elizabeth P. Ryan, deceased, will present same properly proven, according to law, to the undersigned on or before May 1st, 1920.

John F. Knue, Admr.

NOTICE

All persons having claims against the estate of W. G. Payne, deceased will present same to P. R. Payne, properly proven within the next sixty days and secure settlement.

P. R. Payne, Admr.

Estate W. G. Payne, Deceased.

One month after Christmas, how many presents are off in the rubbish heap? Government Savings Securities grow in worth each month.

Easter Sunday--

If you are in need of a New Suit for that day--

Better order now, our new Style Book is ready for your Selection--

Let us have your measure today.

J. C. NOLTE & BRO.

Public Sale!

On County Court Day

Monday Feb. 23

At One O'clock P. M

My house and lot in Hardinsburg. My home, a nine room house on west side of Main street on which I have recently spent about $600.00 in repairs, including hardwood floors and electric lights, fine shade and plenty of fruit.

There can be a lot sold off this property giving plenty of ground for house and garden for both houses, will include with this property the barn that has four stalls and large loft, also shed that has room to store two autos. Will give possession of this property September 1st.

One lot adjoining Mr. John Alexander, near Catholic church and school, it is a corner lot of more than an acre and furnishes ample room for two houses. See Moorman Ditto.

Right reserved to reject any and all bids.

Jno. D. Shaw

GOOD IDEA!

Open your Lucky Strike package this way—tear off part of the top only.

Protects the Lucky Strike cigarette—a cigarette made of that delicious real Burley tobacco. It's toasted.

Means Plenty Eggs and Healthy Chicks
OLD KENTUCKY MFG. CO., Inc., Paducah, Ky.
For Sale By G. WETHINGTON and all good dealers

Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.
INCORPORATED

EGGS FOR HATCHING

FRAIZE HEIRS DENIED REHEARING IN COURT OF APPEALS.

Final Decision Gives Widow Right to Entire Estate.

The suit of the Fraize heirs against Mrs. Cornelia Fraize Executrix of the estate of her husband, F. Fraize, to set aside the will made by her husband has been reversed on appeal to the court of Appeals. This gives all the property left by Mr. Fraize to his wife under the will. On motion by the heirs for a rehearing before the same court, the motion was overruled.

This ends the contest over a very large estate left by the decedent, F. Fraize. In the trial court in this country at Hardinsburg, the heirs of Mr. Fraize's brother made a stout contest for a division of the property but on appeal the court said, construing the language of the will, that there was nothing more specific and certain, than that the decedent intended that all of his property should go to Mrs. Cornelia Fraize, the surviving wife, and it was so ordered.

FROM HALL'S FAMOUS WHITE WYANDOTTES

EGGS from one of America's finest Strain of White Wyandottes, direct descendants of Martins Regal-Dorcas, the World's Most Popular Strain, carefully selected and scientifically mated.

Eggs from Special Pens $3.00, $3.50 and $5.00 per 15 and from Farm Flock $2.50 per 15.

HERBERT HALL
Hardinsburg, Ky.

Try News Classified Ads for Results

LALLEY LIGHT and POWER

Lalley
Light

Preferred by Progressive Farmers

Every prospective buyer of an electric light and power plant should know that there is a pronounced preference for Lalley-Light.

This is especially so among progressive farmers — the keenest men in every locality. If there were no other reason for the Lalley preference, the fact that it has been in use for ten years would be sufficient.

But there are many good reasons—the greater Lalley economy, its greater power, its long life, and the actual savings it makes in time and labor and money.

FORDSVILLE PLANING MILL COMPANY

JAKE WILSON, Manager

FORDSVILLE,

KENTUCKY

LALLEY-LIGHT

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER FOR EVERY FARM

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Out of the more than 3,000,000 Ford cars now in use, about sixty percent have been sold to farmers. Probably no other one thing has brought to the farm so much of comfort and profit as has the Ford car. It has enlarged the social life, doubled the facilities for marketing, brought the town next door to the farm, multiplied for the farmer the pleasures of living. A family car without an equal in low cost of operation and maintenance. We solicit your order for one now because the demand is large and continually increasing.

T. J. HOOK,
HARDINSBURG, KY.

Perfect Lenses for Imperfect Eyes

M. D. Harner, of the Harner Optical Company, of Louisville, Ky., will make regular monthly trips as follows:

IRVINGTON
1st Tuesday and Wednesday, Park's Drug Store.

HARDINSBURG
1st Thursday and Friday, Lex's Drug Store.

CLOVERPORT
3rd Tuesday and Wednesday, Wedding's Drug Store.

HAWESVILLE
3rd Thursday and Friday, Patterson's Drug Store.

SCHOOL NEWS
AND VIEWS

By J. Raleigh Meador, Superintendent

Mrs. W. D. Smith has opened a Normal School at Westview, and reports an enrollment of a large and interested class. The school will continue until the examination in May and will offer work for those desiring teachers certificates, and also for those who wish to pass the examination for Common School Diploma.

The schools at Cloverport are the only ones closed on account of influenza so far as have been reported to me.

In this country we have an abundance of good literature available to every body because the advertisers pay a large part of the cost of producing and distributing our high class magazines. The kind of advertisements which appear in any magazine is an index of the class of readers to which it appeals, because the advertiser knows that his product will appeal more to some people than to others.

There is a liberal education in the study of high class advertisements, because all high class advertisers have trained psychologists as publicity agents and ad writers.

Teachers may gather interesting and instructive exercises from advertisements for use in their schools. Most advertisers have slogans which have come to remind us of the product which they advertise. How many of the slogans do you know? Try them on your class and see how many your pupils know. Some of them will surprise you. The following sentences are made up from the slogans of nationally advertised products, each sentence containing two slogans.

At the first drop of rain he recognizes his master's voice.

If the flavor lasts eventually, why not now?

The best in the long run, but it floats.

It comes out a ribbon, but sometimes you can see that film.

Strong as Gibraltar, but it hasn't scratched yet.

Your nose knows if it's toasted.

There is an abundance of good literature available for all teachers and farmers for only the asking. Ask the County Agent or the Smith-Hughes man or write direct to the College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky., for any material you wish in the way of free bulletins on the different divisions of agriculture. The College of Agriculture can furnish a list showing the different bulletins available. Farmers and teachers should take advantage of this service.

Miss Ruth Ramsey will open school at Gilt Edge on the first Monday in March. This will be her second school for this year.

E. S. Babbage closed his school last week on account of sickness in the district.

The bill providing a minimum salary of $75 per month for teachers has passed the House and is now ready to be taken up in the Senate. Write your Senator to support the bill.

MY MOTHER.

"My Mother is the dearest Mother on earth, she watches me every move I make. Your mother will stick by you to the end. When you are in trouble go to your mother and she will help you out. When you are sick and nobody else will stay in the room, your mother will come in and read to you and stand the chance of taking the disease you have. Sometimes when I start to go in swimming or do something else that I think it all right my mother won't let me go because she thinks I will get drowned. So from the love of your mother go off some place and stay a week or two and you will get a letter every time you turn around from your mother telling you to come home, and when you are going on some long journey your mother will start crying, not wanting you to go. If your mother don't love you why did she cry over you when you went to war and when you came back why did she hug and kiss you? That is another proof that your mother loves you.

John L. Miller, Cruger, Miss.—Hawesville Clarion.

John L. Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lightfoot Miller, of Cruger, and a great nephew of Mrs. J. N. Cordrey, of this city.

METHODIST W. M. S. CONFERENCE MEETS IN BARDSTOWN CO. DELEGATES ELECTED.

The Annual Louisville Conference of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society will meet this year in Bardstown, March 2, 3, 4, and 5th.

Mrs. David B. Phelps will represent the Cloverport society at the Conference; Mrs. Charlie Hawes and Mrs. Milton Green were elected delegates from the Irvington society. Mrs. W. J. Piggott, of Irvington, one of the Conference officers, will also attend the meeting.

HAWESVILLE

3rd Thursday and Friday, Patterson's Drug Store.

SUNDAY CAN COME TO O'BORO IN APRIL 1921.

First Open Date For The Noted Evangelist.

The first date of the noted evangelist, Billy Sunday, is in April 1921. The Owensboro Ministerial Association has been in communication with Mr. Sunday to get him to Owensboro for an evangelistic meeting, and in reply the evangelists stated he would be glad to come to Owensboro for four or five weeks in April 1921. It is seldom that an engagement is possible to be secured with him in less than two years.

Mr. Sunday does not ask compensation for himself other than a free-will offering the last day of his visit to the city. He asks that the traveling expenses and expenses of the engagement be borne by the city and that two-thirds of the salaries of his helpers be paid while in the city. He suggests that an auditorium seating between 5,000 and 7,000 be secured and that one of the loose leaf houses might be suitable.

The Owensboro ministerial association has the meeting under consideration.

decided to have the wedding ceremony performed immediately.

After April 1, Dr. Keene and Mrs. Keene will be at home at Reed, where Dr. Keene is building a summer home on his farm.—Owensboro Messenger.

BRECKINRIDGE CO. MAN DIED IN LOUISVILLE

Mrs. Mary J. Miller of the lower bottom received a telegram, Saturday January 31st, stating that her father, Mr. Benedict Warren Elder, died of lagripe at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. A. Perry, of Louisville.

Mr. Elder was born and reared in Breckinridge county near Hardinsburg. He was a devout member of the Catholic church. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary Miller, of near Adair; Mrs. D. A. Perry, of Louisville; and three sons, Charles D., of Louisville; Joseph C., of Frye-mire, Ky.; and Albert R., of Oakland, California.

The deceased was eighty-one years of age.—Hawesville Clarion.

Now All You Good Fellows, Come Fill Up Your Pipes

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

I F ever men are "Tom" and "Bill" to each other, it's when good pipes are a-going. If ever good pipes go their best, 'tis when Velvet's in the bowl.

For Velvet is a mighty friendly smoke. Kentucky Burley is the leaf that Nature made for pipes. Wholesome and hearty, honest as the day. And Velvet is that same good Burley leaf, brought to mellow middle age.

For eight long seasons Velvet "meditates" in wooden hogsheads, throwing off the rawness of "young" tobacco—truly "ageing in the wood." Out Velvet comes—cool, calm and generous—the tobacco Nature made good, kept good and made better.

Velvet's sweetness is the sweetness of good tobacco, not "put on" like "frosting" on a cake. Its mildness comes from natural ageing, not from having the life baked out. Its fragrance is true tobacco fragrance, not a perfume. And Velvet makes an A Number One cigarette. Roll one.

As good old Velvet Joe says:

'Fill yo' heart with friendly thoughts,
Yo' mouth with friendly smoke—
An' let the old world wag.'

Liggett & Myers Co.

-the friendly tobacco

TO AVOID THE "FLU"

THOS. A. EDISON IS 73 YEARS OLD

First Of All, Make Sure Your Blood is Red and Rich—in Fighting Trim.

SAFETY IN VIGOROUS BLOOD

If You're Listless and Depressed Don't Delay a Minute—Get a Good Tonic.

If you get the influenza, see a doctor at once—but why get it? Isn't it worth while, instead, to take every precaution now, against getting it?

Probably the best and first thing to do is to make sure you are in good physical condition. During an epidemic, almost wherever you go are exposed to influenza. As long as you are really well, the red corpuscles of your blood fight off and defeat disease germs. But when you are tired and run down, when you feel all right except that you haven't much energy or enthusiasm, your blood is tired out too, and you are an easy victim.

Pepto-Mangan has become famous as a builder of rich, vigorous blood.

It helps you up when you are run down, helps you avoid illness. Or, if helps you recover, if you realized your poor physical condition too late.

Physicians have been recommending Pepto-Mangan for years, in cases of anemia (bloodlessness.) It is reliable, effective, and has a record of over twenty-five years success. Take no chances with a run-down condition. Get Pepto-Mangan today. It is good health insurance.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in liquid and tablet form. There is no difference in medical value. Take either kind you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's". The full name should be on the package.

(Advertisement.)

Famous Inventor Drops Work On His Birthday and Writes Interviews on "Work."

of ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

Against Shackling Abilities.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands

of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some leader strong enough and wise enough to make trade unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when the unions generally will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will the trade union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, trade unionism will be one of the world's greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

I hope I may have enough birthdays to enable me to witness something of that kind. I feel like it now. Inasmuch as the prohibitionists have buried "Johnny Walker" under the 18th Amendment, and he has no further use for his trade mark in this country, I'll borrow it and say that I am "still going strong."

Mr. Edison is in splendid physical condition. On his sixty-eighth anniversary declared his intention of doing his best to live to be eighty-five. He added that he hoped folks would not think him presumptuous for thus aspiring to longevity, because his grandfather accomplished the age of 102 and his great grand-father didn't die until he was 104. But Mr. Edison exclaimed that both his grandfather and his great grand-father worked harder and longer each day than he, and whereas everybody decided that grand-father and great grand-father Edison must have spent all of three or four hours in bed every night.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of Ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts.

"I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employee planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skillful. A young man was not well thought of if he was not striving for a higher place in life.

"There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course, I realize that the leaders of union labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the

LOUISVILLE AUTOMOTIVE SHOW

PASSENGER CARS.
TRUCKS. ✓ TRACTORS.
ACCESSORIES
—AT THE ARMORY—
FEBRUARY 23-28 INC.

GLOBE TIRES

Fabric — 6000 Miles

Cord — 8000 Miles

Hand Made

Accessories — Mechanic Tools — Garage Equipment

ROBINSON BROS. & CO.

(Incorporated)

WHOLESALE HARDWARE

Louisville

Kentucky

Prevents Explosion

Saves 5% Of Your Gasoline Cost and Eliminates Carburetor Trouble

See it at the show! It's something new and it won't be long before every car owner will have one. Not only does it save gas and eliminate carburetor trouble, but no fire can explode any gasoline tank that has one of the se non-explosive tubes in it.

Portland Auto and General Repair
Company—State Agents

At The Heick Booth

SEE OUR EXHIBIT AT THE SHOW

And At Our Store

307-309 West Broadway

Louisville Auto Supply Co.

We Do Not Sell Your Trade
Wholesale Only

When You Visit Louisville

Ride to Your Hotel in a

BROWN-TAXI

WITH WHITE LINE

"EVERY DRIVER AN ESCORT"

CITY 1600 Main

LOUISVILLE TAXICAB AND TRANSFER CO.
INCORPORATED.Agents at
All StationsAgents at
All Hotels

ATTENTION DEALERS

Has it ever occurred to you how hard it is to secure the exclusive agency on real good tires and spark plugs? We are factory representatives.

STRONGHOLD TIRES

Hand Made, Built For Service

EXPRESS SPARK PLUGS

Eliminate Carbon

We still have some territory and attractive proposition to offer on an exclusive basis. See us at the Automobile Show or write

THE BEVERLY CO.

220 W. Main

Louisville, Ky.

THE COUNTRY TOWN

(Continued From Page 4)

you all we can in getting all the land you need at a reasonable price, and our city engineer and architect will be at your service."

"Small chance for this city to secure the factory after such talk?"

I am not so sure.

If a few towns said it, the men who wished to build the mills would consider it seriously. Then, if they should be the kind of citizens our city needed, they would begin to see something in it. The town that considered first of all the welfare of its citizens would not be bad town for an honest business enterprise to locate in. If the town cared enough for the men who worked in the mills to insist that they have neat homes and attractive surroundings, it would surely do its part to keep the mills going and the paychecks coming.

Some manufacturers think of their employees as co-workers in a great enterprise rather than as a lot of hirings whose only mission in life is to add to the factory's dividends. Such men would not be driven away by a regard for beauty and an insistence upon decency. The other type of employer our little city by the river would not need.

In our country town, too, I can imagine that with the ruts and mud-holes filled, the broken sidewalks repaired, the old wooden landmark of early days condemned as a menace and the little dinky depot kept at least clean and neat by the town's authority, there would begin to come a feeling that maybe Bigburg did not need to be a city after all. There might come a rest room for visiting shoppers. The merchants and farmers could join to build it and it would help to make them neighbors. Then the merchant might decide he had just as soon sell goods to the steady customers he had known for years as to folks he had never heard of and whose tastes and whims he did not know. It would be an easy step from the rest-room to an entertainment hall, and there the needed opera house would be! With cleaner streets, the yards would brighten up, and after a while the telephone linemen might find out that they could string a few wires without cutting the town's finest trees to pieces. When that came to pass, anything would be possible—a clean courthouse, a sanitary inspector who really inspected, everything, in fact, necessary to make the people of the town proud of it and glad to live there.

And Littleville, dreaming of city ways and future bigness, while the pigs and cows roam through its streets, and the young autoists scatter mud on the dodging pedestrians, what could Littleville be if only its citizens set themselves to the task of making an ideal place to live in? Beauty of surroundings it has, close, wholesome contact with woods and fields, easy access to real cities. A thousand towns have all these and do not count them assets or put them to use. Littleville can have electric lights and still keep the brook that runs through it clean and pure. It can drive the pigs off the streets, and have a high school, and get out of the mud, and have the grocer screen his doors, and at the same time lay aside all dreams of city greatness, devoting its energies to improving real conditions rather than to advertising advantages, more or less mythical. When Littleville does this, it will be a fine place indeed to live in, and will find no trouble in securing new families as fast as it can locate them satisfactorily, absorb them into the community life and turn their ideas and energies into effective channels of community work.

The Cross Roads, too, meant to be a center of community life, does not need more people living about it. What it needs is a better school building with one big room for community gatherings, a baseball diamond, a playground for the girls, some honeysuckles and wistarias on porch and fence, and a few trees to shadow and shelter it all. This, with some grass about the church steps and some of the storekeeper's paint on his own building, and it could become a place to which old and young would turn with pleasure and from which they could come instructed and bettered, instead of being, as so many such cross roads now are, a place where energies are slackened and respectability is questionable.

There must be some such towns—one town at least that does not prevaricate about its population, one that will tell the stranger what it is now doing to become a better place to live in, instead of how much it expects to grow in the next five years.

In such towns, surely, life will be better ordered, more purposeful and fuller of "durable satisfactions" than is the town life of today. There will be no hint of stagnation, no slacking of enterprise because some rival town has made more rapid growth. Instead there will be more beauty, and a deeper and finer local pride. In such towns Plutarch may not live; but there will surely be men of worth and strength men whom Pultarch would have been glad to know, and whether or not they attain distinction beyond their own town, these men will add distinction to it. With men willing to live in little towns and to serve them, lest they should grow less, not merely in numbers, but in beauty, desirability and friendliness, the future of the nation will be assured.

TY COBB'S DOG A WINNER.
Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 10.—Cobb's dog, owned by William Seigler, of New Hall, a black, white and tan setter, was runner-up.

owned by Ty Cobb, the baseball player, today won the subscription stake of the Continental Field Trials Club at Calhoun, Ala. The winner gets $1,050 of the $1,400 stake. G. I. Ringing Bells, a white pointer, York, was runner-up.

HOGS FOR SALE

One Duroc and Poland China sow, two years old, 9 pigs, one registered "Big Type" P. C. sow and 9 pigs, Spring gilts and yearling sows, being bred to one of best "Big Type" boars in state, and about 50 extra Fall registered P. C. pigs. Reasonable prices. Satisfaction or your money back.

W. J. OWEN & SONS,
Hartford, Ky.

DR. W. B. TAYLOR

...PERMANENT...
DENTIST

Office Hours: 8 a.m. to 12 m.

1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Always in office during office hours

Ivington, Ky.

Embry-Weir Motors Co.

Incorporated

Distributors of the

MAXWELL and JORDAN

See the New Models at the Show

STAR HANDMADE EXTRAPLY TIRES

CORD and FABRIC

Not Accidentally Good but Made Good Always!

DANT - WESTEFELD CO.

Incorporated

State Agents

908 S 3rd Street

Louisville, Ky.

City 116

South 117

Long Distance Telephone

Tiger-Foot Cord and Standard Fabric Tires

SEE US AT THE SHOW

Distributed By

MAHON BROS.
& ALEXANDER

Incorporated

666 South Third St. Louisville, Ky.